Education

- Background in Economics and holds a BA degree in Economics from the University of Botswana.
- Master's degree in development economics from University of Salford in the United Kingdom.

Expertise

- Has more than 20 years working in the HIV/AIDS response in Botswana.
- Has extensive experience working with different donor-funded projects, including designing, planning, and implementing programmes and projects, preparing and producing reports, identifying and developing funding proposals and monitoring and evaluation process and procedures.
- Has worked in development and economic planning as well as health, and the intersectionality of HIV, Health and development.
- Has also previously worked with the Global Fund project during the Round Based Funding and more recently under the New Funding Model.
- Responsibilities have included being seconded to the Round Two Programme Management Unit (PMU) as the Programme Officer, Country Coordinating Mechanism (CCM) Executive Secretary and Acting Global Fund Grant Coordinator.
- During the development of the recent two Global Fund applications for Botswana, Ms. Bogosing played an instrumental role as she participated in and implemented the development process: consultations, information gathering and facilitation, communication and coordination of stakeholders during the grant making process as well as the implementation phase. Her leadership and drive for excellence ensured that the Global Fund grants were approved and implemented successfully.

Experience

- Currently serves as a Chief Programme Planning Officer in the Program Planning Division of the National AIDS & Health Promotion Agency (NAHPA).
- Currently working on the UNAIDS / Global Fund supported Transition and Readiness Assessment which will translate into the national Sustainability Plan. In this regard, she closely works with the UNAIDS Country Office, the Ministry of Health and all relevant stakeholders.

* For ease of reference, the task team members have been categorized according to their organization and/or geographic region, however they do not represent their constituencies, as specified in the terms of reference.

- Overall, she is quite versatile with the ability to work within teams or groups in order to deliver on the required task. She has good analytical skills with the ability to deliver results timely. This makes her a suitable candidate to contribute to the multistakeholder task team on UNAIDS immediate and sustainable funding.
